Curvature of the Spine.

DR. HAMILTON,
No. 47, North Gay street, Baltimore,
HAVING turned much of his attention during a long practice to the diseases of the Spine, begs leave to tender his services for the cure or relief of that afflicting malady. The approach of this disease is easily detected by an attentive observer. It makes its appearance generally in children between the second and sixth year; a protuberance of one or more of the small bones composing the spine becomes evident, loss of appetite, irregularity of the bowels, and emaciation soon follow, together with much disinclination to walk—and unless immediate aid is obtained, death or incurable decripitude through life are the certain consequences.

Doctor Hamilton has the satisfaction of knowing that his treatment of this disease, and application of the necessary apparatus, which is simplified at the same time; that it is materially improved, have received the unqualified approbation of many of the most eminent of his medical brethren in Baltimore. Spring corsets, upon a new principle, can be applied for the use of young ladies evincing a tendency to this disease, which, while they afford the most effectual support for either side, may be worn without observation. Satisfactory references might be given to parents whose children have profited by this improved mode of treatment, did not delicacy forbid the publication: they may be easily obtained if desired, by a private interview.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.
BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turupike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fine wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.
Fairfax Court-House, Va.

Daily Gazette, 7 dolls...Country, 5 dolls.

MONDAY, MAY 3, 1819.

The following Circular from the Treasury Department has been politely handed us for publication. Its importance to the mercantile part of the community, will, we hope, plead our excuse for occupying so much of this day's paper with it. Articles omitted in consequence, will be attended to in our next.

CIRCULAR

TO COLLECTORS, NAVAL OFFICERS AND SURVEYORS.

Treasury Department,
Comptroller's Office, April 14th, 1819.

SIR,

I transmit, herewith, copies of the following acts, passed at the last session of Congress, to which your particular attention is requested·

1. An act, entitled "An act providing additional penalties for false entries for the benefit of drawback, or bounty on exportation;" approved the 20th February, 1819.
2. An act, entitled "An act regulating passenger ships and vessels;" approved the 2d of March, 1819.
3. An act, entitled "An act to regulate the duties on certain wines;" approved the 3d March, 1819.
4. An act, entitled "An act in addition to 'An act concerning tonnage and discriminating duties in certain cases;" approved the 3d March, 1819.
5. An act, entitled "An act in addition to, and alteration of an act, entitled 'An act laying a duty on imported salt, granting a bounty on pickled fish exported, and allowances to certain vessels employed in the fisheries;" approved the 3d of March, 1819.
6. An act, entitled "An act supplementary to the acts concerning the coasting trade;" approved the 2d of March, 1819.

The provisions of the first mentioned law are so clear and explicit as to require no elucidation.

It is incumbent on the officers of the customs, by the second mentioned law, to observe due vigilance to detect vessels in taking from, or conveying to, the United States, a greater number of passengers than is prescribed by the law.

In case the number of passengers exceeds the proportion of two passengers for every five tons of the vessel, but not by twenty passengers, the master and the owner or owners thereof, will severally forfeit, and be liable only to the payment of one hundred and fifty dollars, for every passenger over and above the said proportion: but in case the number exceeds that proportion, by twenty passengers, besides the fine of one hundred and fifty dollars to which the master and owner or owners, will, in such event, be severally liable for every passenger beyond the number allowed by law, the vessel will be forfeited to the United States, and is to be prosecuted and distributed in the same manner in which the forfeitures and penalties are recovered and distributed under the provisions of the act, entitled "An act to regulate the collection of duties on imports and tonnage."

The third mentioned act, which is to go into operation from and after the 30th of June next, reduces the duty heretofore payable on the non-enumerated wines when imported in bottles or cases, from seventy to thirty cents per gallon; and when imported otherwise than in bottles or cases, from twenty-five to fifteen cents per gallon.

It also amends the fourth section of the act of 20th of April, 1818, supplementary to the collection law of 1799, so far as to allow the transportation, coast-wise, of wines and distilled spirits, from the public warehouses, in one district, to those in another district, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, without loss of debenture.

By the fourth mentioned act, the provisions and limitations of the act of 20th of April, 1818, concerning tonnage and discriminating duties, in certain cases, are to be extended to the vessels of Prussia, of the city of Hamburgh, and of the city of Bremen.

In a circular letter from this department, dated the 4th August, 1818, predicated on two proclamations of the President of the United States, which were issued in conformity with the provisions of the act of 3d March, 1815, you were instructed to discontinue charging discriminating, or countervailing duties on the vessels of the cities of Hamburg and Bremen, and on merchandise imported in them, of the growth, produce or manufacture of those cities, respectively; and to refund the difference between countervailing and domestic duties, so far as related to the importations in those vessels from certain specified periods.

But it will be perceived that the act of the 3d March, 1815, and the President's proclamations, issued in virtue of it, do not extend the repeal of the countervailing duties, as to merchandise, further than to goods, the growth, produce or manufacture of the cities of Hamburg and Bremen, respectively; whereas, by the act of the 20th April, 1818, all the provisions and limitations of which are made applicable to the vessels of Hamburg and Bremen, by the act passed at last session of Congress, the acts, and parts of acts imposing discriminating, or countervailing duties are repealed, not only as respects merchandise, the produce or manufacture of those cities, respectively; but also as respects "such produce and manufactures, as can only be, or most usually are first shipped from them in their respective vessels."

You will therefore be pleased to discontinue exacting discriminating, or countervailing duties on the goods last alluded to, when imported in vessels of Hamburg and Bremen, and refund such as have been collected on such goods, since the 12th May, 1815, as regards the vessels of the city of Bremen; and the 13th November, 1815, as regards the vessels of the city of Hamburg, being the days, respectively, on which the reciprocal measures adopted by those cities, commenced operating.

With respect to the equalization of tonnage duties on Prussian vessels, and on the merchandise imported in them, I have to observe, that the act of 20th April, 1818, concerning discriminating duties, and the act of the 3d March, 1819, in addition to the same, can be applied only prospectively, it being understood that the benefits authorized to be extended to those vessels by the acts mentioned, are yet to be reciprocated on the part of the Prussian government, agreeably to a promise made to that effect.

When information shall be received that the reciprocal measures have been adopted by that government, you will be advised thereof.

In the mean time you are to charge alien duties on Prussian vessels and their cargoes.

By the fifth mentioned act, the rates of the allowances hereafter to be granted to vessels qualified, agreeably to law, for carrying on the Bank, and other Codfisheries, are changed; but the forms and regulations prescribed, by pre-existing laws, to obtain such allowances, are still to be observed, with the exception that vessels above thirty tons, in a certain event, specified in the act, will now be entitled to a bounty of three dollars and fifty cents per ton, altho' they may have been employed only three and a half months, at the least, in the preceding fishing season.

The sixth mentioned act, with a view to the more convenient regulation of the coasting trade, divides the sea coast and the navigable rivers of the United States, into Two Great Districts, and directs, with respect to licensed vessels of twenty tons or upwards, that, from and after the 30th June next, such vessels may trade between the districts included within the two great districts, respectively; and between a state in one, and an adjoining state in another Great District, in manner and subject only to the regulations that are now required to be observed by such vessels, in trading from one district to another, in the same state, or from a district in one state, to a district in the next adjoining state; and that when trading from one to another Great District, other than between a state in one, and an adjoining state in another great district, such vessels are to conform to, and observe the regulations that are now required to be observed, in trading from a district in one state, to a district in any other than an adjoining state.

Lest it may be supposed, that these exemptions from the performance of certain acts in certain cases, extend to all goods, I deem it proper to observe, that the formalities heretofore required, on the transportation of goods coast-wise, from one district to another, to be thence exported with benefit of drawback, must still be observed on lading and unlading such goods at the ports of departure and of arrival, respectively.

It is also to be observed, that the act is applicable only to licensed coasting vessels of twenty tons or upwards, and not to licenced coasting vessels under twenty tons; nor to registered vessels, taking in goods in one district to be delivered in another.

The two last descriptions of vessels are, therefore still to conform to the provisions and regulations of the pre-existing laws; as, also, all descriptions of vessels trading in the districts not comprehended in either of the two Great Districts on the sea coast and navigable rivers, between the eastern and western limits of the United States.

It will naturally suggest itself to you, that this new regulation respecting coasting vessels, will increase their facilities for smuggling; which however, may be counteracted by proper vigilance on the part of the officers of the customs, and by a rigid observance of the duties enjoined on them by the 18th section of the coasting act of the 18th of February, 1793.

From a number of communications, which have been made to this department, by merchants and officers of the customs, it appears that a difference of opinion is entertained on a variety of points in the act passed on the 20th of April, providing for the deposit of wines and distilled spirits, in public ware-houses, and for other purposes.

In order, therefore, to establish a uniformity of practice under that law, the present occasion is embraced to state the views of this department, on the several points on which doubts exist.

According to the terms of the act, wines, or distilled spirits, to be entitled to drawback, must be deposited in such public, or other storehouses, as may be agreed upon between the importer and surveyor, &c. and on making the deposit, a bond is to be given, without surety, for double the amount of duties on the wines, or distilled spirits, with condition for the payment of said duties, whether on wines or on distilled spirits, in twelve calendar months, from the date of such bond.

To obtain a permit for the removal of wines or distilled spirits, it is required that the importer or his assignee, shall previously give bond, with one or more surety or sureties, to the satisfaction of the collector, in double the amount of the duties upon the wines or spirits, in each case to be delivered, with condition for the payment of the duties, at the same credits, to be computed from the date of the permit, as would have been allowed on bonds for the same articles if they had not been deposited under the provisions of that act: "Provided, That the time to be allowed for the payment of the duties upon any wines or spirits so delivered, or for any part of such duties, shall not be such as to extend the credit beyond the term of twelve calendar months, originally allowed, upon depositing such wines and spirits."

It has been contended by some importers that, according to the preceding regulations, they are entitled to the credits specified in the 6th section of the act, from the date of the permit, granted for the removal of the wines or distilled spirits.

To exemplify the construction thus contended for, it will be supposed that distilled spirits imported from any other place than Europe and foreign places, or islands, situated on the eastern shores of America, north of the equator, or in its adjacent seas, bays and gulfs, are deposited in the public stores on the 1st of January, 1820, and a permit for their removal is obtained on the 1st of April following. By the construction in question, the bonds to be given, would be payable on the 1st of December 1820, and 1st of February, and 1st of October, 1821; whereas the original bond given at the time of the deposit of the spirits, would have been payable on the 1st of January 1821, consequently, the credit, for a part of the duties, would, by such construction, be extended beyond the term of twelve calendar months, originally allowed.

It is difficult to reconcile the inconsistency which seems to exist between that part of the 2d section, which says that bonds are to be given with sureties, at the same credits, to be computed from the date of the permit, as would have been allowed on bonds for the same articles, if they had not been deposited under the provisions of the act; and the restrictive clause in the proviso immediately following, which has been already quoted.

But taking that proviso in connection with other parts of the act, and particularly the 3d section thereof, in these words, "that if the duties on any wines or spirits, deposited under the provisions of the act shall not have been paid, or secured to be paid, in the manner described in the foregoing section, within the term of twelve calendar months, from the time of their importation, it shall be the duty of the collector to cause so much of the wines or spirits, as may be necessary, to be sold, &c. retaining the sum necessary for the payment of the duties which have not been secured or paid," the inference appears to me to be irresistable, that it was the intention of the Legislature that, in no case of a deposit of wines or distilled spirits, should the terms of credit for the duties, or any part of the duties thereon, be extended beyond the twelve calendar months, originally allowed: and such has been the construction which has heretofore been given to the law by this Department.

It results that bonds given with surety, can be made payable from the date of the permit, only, in the case of wines or distilled spirits imported from any foreign places or islands, situated on the eastern shores of America, north of the equator, &c. and application for their removal be made at any time within three months after their having been deposited; because in such case the bonds, with surety, may be made payable at 6 and 9 months, from the date of the permit, without extending the term of credit for any part of the duties, beyond the twelve calendar months, originally allowed.

But if on such importations, application for a permit be not made until more than three months from the time of the deposit of the wines or distilled spirits shall have elapsed, the bonds cannot run the usual time of 6 and 9 months, from the date of the permit, as in such case, such time would extend the terms of credit on a part of the duties, beyond the twelve calendar months originally allowed.

In all cases of importations of wines, or distilled spirits, from any other port or place, than a foreign place, or island situated on the eastern shores of America, north of the equator, &c. and a deposit takes place, if any time elapse after such deposit before the application for the permit for a removal be made, one, and sometimes more than one, of the bonds cannot run the usual time, as by such course the terms of credit for a part of the duties would also be extended beyond the twelve calendar months originally allowed.

Under those circumstances, I can only recommend that the most favorable arrangement be made with the importers, which the nature of each case will admit of, keeping in view the general principle that, in no instance, are the terms of credit for any part of the duties on wines or distilled spirits, deposited, to be extended beyond the twelve calendar months, originally allowed.

It will not escape notice that, the effect of this construction, will be to restrict the terms of credit, on the last instalment of the duties on distilled spirits deposited, which may be imported from any other place than Europe, and the foreign places or Islands, situated on the Eastern shore of America, north of the equator, &c. to twelve months—whereas, if no deposit had taken place, the terms of credit on such instalment, would, according to the 6th section of the act, have been eighteen months.

With a full knowledge of that effect, it is not perceived that, from the whole context of the law, which forcibly manifests the intention of the Legislature to have been, to make such restriction, that any other construction, than that adopted by this department, can be supported.

Some doubts having been expressed, as to the terms of credit, to which goods imported from the West Indies are now entitled, I take occasion to observe, that the West Indies are considered as being comprehended in the foreign places, or islands, situated on the Eastern shore of America, north of the equator, and in its adjacent seas, bays, and gulfs; and, therefore, goods imported from the West Indies, are entitled to a credit of six and nine months, with the exception of salt.

The terms of credit on salt, are fixed at nine months, by the act of 29th July, 1813, without regard to the place of importation.

It will be perceived, that the 6th section of the act providing for the deposit of wines, &c. makes no provision for the terms of credit to be allowed on goods imported from Europe. The regulations in the sixty second section of the collection law of 1799, in relation to the terms of credit on goods thus imported, are, therefore, still to govern; as well as with respect to the terms of credit to be allowed on wines and teas, imported from any other place than foreign places, or Islands situated on the Eastern shores of America, North of the equator, &c.

It may be proper, here to remark, that no part of the act providing for the deposit of wines, &c. being considered applicable to the districts on the northern and northwestern boundaries of the United States; the preceding observations, respecting that act, are not to be understood as being intended for the collectors of those districts, who are to be governed by the provisions in the sixty second section of the collection law of 1799, in fixing the terms of credit for the duties on all goods imported into their districts, with the exception of salt, the terms of credit to be allowed on which article has already been stated.

It has also been made a question, whether, in case of the importation of goods purchased for a commercial house in the United States, by a partner residing abroad, the invoices are required to be verified, by such partner, under the 8th section of the act; which has been decided in the affirmative, as will be seen from the inclosed circular letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, to the consuls of the U. States in foreign countries.

Once admit the principle, that, the residence in the U. States, of one or more of the partners of a commercial house, will exempt the partners residing abroad, from a compliance with the regulations prescribed in the eighth section of the act, and you place in their hands, the means of defeating, in a great measure, the object and policy of the law.

It has been supposed by some, that, in case there be no American Consul, at the port of shipment, the verification might be made before a Notary Public, or other officer duly authorised to Administer oaths; but the proviso in the 8th section will not admit of such a construction. It says, "that if there be no Consul of the United States in the country from whence the shipment of the goods, wares, or merchandize, is made, &c."

According to the terms of the proviso, although there be no American consul at the port of shipment, yet if there be such a Consul in the country, in which that port is situated, the invoices must be verified before him.

The sense in which the word country, as used in the law, is to be understood, is, that England is one country—Ireland another, and Scotland, &c. another.

It having been intimated to the Treasury, that, by the laws of England, the Consuls of the United States, resident therein, could not administer oaths, the Secretary of the Treasury, in the circular communication already alluded to, has made the following regulation:

"In all cases where, by the municipal laws of the country in which they exercise their functions, they are restrained from administering oaths, the verification required by the eighth section of the act may be made, in the presence of the resident consul, before any magistrate duly authorised to administer oaths; and such Consul shall certify, not only the official character of the officer, and that the oath was administered in his presence, but the person to whom it was administered, is of respectable character, and who according to the provisions of the said act, ought to verify the said invoices."

Different opinions have also been entertained, as to the correct construction of the thirteenth section of that act.

When goods liable to an ad valorem duty, are imported into the United States, the invoices of which are required to be verified, as before mentioned, but are not verified, or are verified, but not in conformity with law, all the packages are to be opened, and every article is to be appraised in the manner pointed out in the ninth section of the act. The doubts expressed, have been, whether, although the appraised value, may not be greater than the invoice value; or if greater, but may not exceed it by twenty-five per centum, the addition of fifty per centum mentioned in the eleventh section, is to be made to the appraised value.

In one or two cases, in which it satisfactorily appeared, that, the owners of the goods, were led into an error, by a misconstruction of the law, by a Consul of the United States, it was considered reasonable, not to exact the penalty of fifty per centum: but in all cases, in which an omission takes place in the verification of invoices, required to be verified, and the omission be ascribable to the owner of the goods, you are to add fifty per centum to the appraised value, the thirteenth section saying that, goods not admitted to entry, for want of the verification required by the eighth section, "shall be subject to the same appraisement and to the same addition to the appraised value, as are prescribed by the eleventh section, &c. the construction given to which, by the Secretary of the Treasury, is, that the failure to produce invoices duly verified should, in contemplation of law, be considered equivalent, to the act of fraudulently invoicing merchandize at twenty-five per centum below its real value.

By the existing laws, copper rods, bolts, spikes, or nails, are liable to a duty of four cents per pound; and copper in pigs, bars or plates, suited to the sheathing of ships, is exempted from duty.

What are sometimes termed round copper bars, and are generally used for the fastening of a vessel, are considered as coming under the classification of "copper rods, bolts, &c." and, therefore, liable to a duty of four cents per pound.

There is some ambiguity in that part of the act of the 27th of April, 1816, exempting from duty, "copper and brass, in pigs, bars or plates, suited to the sheathing of ships."

The only rational construction which can be given to the words, "suited to the sheathing of ships," is, that they relate, exclusively, to copper in plates, or, in other words, sheets.

According to this view of the subject, copper in plates, suited to the sheathing of ships, (what should be so considered, was defined in a circular from this Department of the 23d of January, 1818,) and copper and brass, in pigs or bars, only, are to be exempted from duty, independent of old copper and brass, fit only to be re-manufactured.

It is understood, that, but few importations are made, of copper or brass, in pigs, or bars.

The form in which these metals come in their crude state from the furnace, is called "pigs."

By the bars, here meant, is to be understood, a solid mass of copper or brass, somewhat more refined than in the state of pigs, and hammered out in an oblong, or other form, and not fit for use, until manufactured into some other shape or form.

Articles manufactured from copper, or of which copper is the material of chief value, are subjected to an ad valorem duty of twenty-five per centum, by the act of the 20th of April, 1818.

All other descriptions of copper, except those already particularly mentioned, are to be considered, as a non enumerated article, and liable to an ad valorem duty of fifteen per cent.

I will instance a few of the descriptions of copper, which are to be considered in the light of a non-enumerated article.

1. Copper bottoms, cut round, and copper bottoms raised at the edge.
2. Copper in plates or sheets, weighing more than thirty-four ounces per square foot, commonly called Braziers copper.

It has been intimated to the Treasury that large contracts have been made in Sweden, by citizens of the United States, for parts of anchors; with a view, it is supposed, of evading the payment of the specific duty of two cents per pound imposed on anchors, by the act of the 20th of April, 1818.

It is stated that the stems are made in one or two parts, according to the size of the auchors for which they are intended; that the flues form another part; that the palms are made into separate parts: and that the several parts are made to fit so exactly, that, after their importation, they require nothing more than the mere process of welding, to form them into complete anchors.

The object and policy of the Legislature, in laying a specific duty of two cents per pound on anchors, were, no doubt, to encourage our own manufactures of this article

It is, therefore, considered not only equitable, but consistent with the spirit and intention of the law, that parts of anchors should pay the same rate of duty as anchors.

By law, a duty of one dollar and fifty cents, per pair, is laid on boots. A question has been made whether laced boots or bootees should pay the same rate of duty as boots, which has been decided in the negative; it being considered equitable that laced boots or bootees should pay duty only in proportion to their comparative value with boots; and, upon that principle, it has been adjudged that they should be charged with an ad valorem duty of thirty per cent as manufactures of leather.

The present tariff, excepts worsted and stuff goods, from the payment of the rate of duty imposed on other woollen goods, or of which wool is the material of chief value, and not being otherwise provided for, are considered a non-enumerated article, and liable to an ad valorem duty of fifteen per cent.

It has been contended by some importers, that toilenetts and valentias, come within the definition of worsted and stuff goods, which construction, however, has not been acceded to by the Treasury.

The worsted and stuff goods, contemplated by law, as an exception to woolen manufactures of all description, are such as are called bombazetts, camlets, calimancoes, ratinetts, wildboars, shalloons, morcens, and the like, all of which are composed entirely of wool.

Both, valentias and toilenetts, are composed of cotton and wool, and in some there is a small mixture of silk; consequently they do not come within the meaning of worsted and stuff goods, contemplated by law, but are, strictly speaking, woollen manufactures, and liable to an ad valorem duty of twenty-five per cent.: their materials of chief valu being wool.

It may be well, here to apprize you, that the limitation, in the fourth paragraph, of the first section of the act of the 27th April, 1816, as to the time when the duty of twenty-five per cent, ad valorem, should cease to be chargeable on woolen goods, having been extended, by an act passed on the 20th April, 1818, to the 30th June, 1826, an ad valorem duty of twenty-five per cent. will be demandable on woollen manufactures of all descriptions, or of which wool is the material of chief value excepting blankets, woolen rugs, and worsted and stuff goods, untill the said 30th day of June, 1826.

A question has also been made as to the duty properly chargeable on sad irons.

From the circumstance of the handles being made of wrought iron, and being affixed to them after having been cast; and the bottoms and sides being made smooth by grinding after that operation, it has been decided, that sad irons should be considered in the light of manufactures of iron, and pay duty accordingly.

On an importation of some visiting cards, a question was made whether they should pay duty as a nonenumerated article; or whether they should be considered as coming under the classification of paper of every description.

Being composed entirely of what may properly be denominated consolidated paper, it has been decided, that visiting cards are embraced by the classification of paper of every description, and, are therefore, liable to an ad valorem duty of thirty per cent.

Considerable difficulties have occurred in settling the principles upon which discounts should be allowed in the computation of duties.

It is the practice in some foreign countries, but particularly in England, to make out the invoices in certain fixed, or standard nominal prices, and then to make discounts of different kinds from those prices regulated by the general state of the market, and the selling prices at the time.

From the positive language used in the twenty-first section of the act of the 20th of April, 1818, supplementary to the collection law of 1799, it is the opinion of the Treasury, that discounts of the character alluded to, cannot be allowed in the computation of duties.

It is only discounts, which the importer shall expressly state on oath or affirmation, were actually and bona fide allowed to the owner or owners of the goods, in payment made for the same, before their shipment, that can, according to the terms of that section, be admitted.

It becomes necessary, therefore, that the practice of introducing those standard nominal prices should be discontinued, and that the invoices should exhibit the true value, without any discount, except such as may be actually and bona fide allowed in payment made for the goods.

To effect this desirable object, the Secretary of the Treasury, in the accompanying circular, has requested our Consuls to use their endeavors to have the course contemplated adopted; and has also requested them to cause the discounts to be made on each invoice, and not upon summary or recapitulatory statements, as has sometimes been practised, and which has always been discountenanced by the Treasury.

Before closing this communication I deem it proper to advert to another subject connected with invoices. According to the collection law of 1799, invoices were to exhibit the actual and real cost of the goods; but by the supplementary act of 20th April, 1818, they are to exhibit the true value of the goods, in their actual state of manufacture, at the place from which the same were imported.

The difference here alluded to, will be obvious from a comparison of the provisions of the former, with the provisions of the latter law; nor can the object and policy of the Legislature, in making the alteration, be misconceived.

Under the old collection law, many impositions, it is apprehended, were practised on the revenue, by false invoices, predicated on fictitious sales, &c.; which impositions were the more readily carried into execution, from the circumstance that the invoices were to exhibit the costs, and not the value, of the goods.

By a proper attention in ascertaining the state of foreign markets, and the general prices given for articles, their true value can always be determined, and by that means a complete check will be afforded by the supplementary collection law, in detecting fraudulent invoices.

It is not the interest of the revenue alone which will be subserved, by a careful and vigilant execution of the duties of your office, in this respect.—The interests of the honest trader will thereby be protected, which, of itself, makes the subject of great importance, and will, I feel satisfied, continue to claim that attention from you which it deserves. Respectfully,

JOS. ANDERSON.

Tan Yard for Sale.

UNDER the authority of a deed of trust from Elisha Talbot and Daniel McPherson, and their wives, to the subscriber, to secure to Mordecai Miller and Archibald McClean the payment of sundry notes, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on WEDNESDAY, the 12th day of MAY next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, that commodious and handsomely situated TANYARD, with all the adjoining ground and improvements thereto belonging, lying on the south side of Duke-street, extended at the western extremity of Alexandria.—Perhaps few situations more eligible for the tanning business can be selected in the United States. The tanyard, with a sufficiency of ground for its accommodation, will be sold separately; and the remainder laid off in lots convenient for purchasers. One-fifth of the purchase money will be required in hand; and the residue in four equal instalments, at 6, 12, 18 and 24 months, with approved security, and interest from the day of sale:

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

Aromatic Snuff,

For Catarrh & Headache.

THIS Snuff, as celebrated for its agreeble fragrance as for its efficacy in the cure of recent catarrh and slow nervous headache, is used and approved by the present professor of chemistry in the university of Cambridge, Mass. and by some of the most respectable gentlemen of the faculty in the United States—It is also particularly recommended by Dr Waterhouse, late professor of the theory and practice of physic, in the above seminary—whose certificate accompanies each bottle.—Sold by Vaccine Institution.

THE small pox having appeared in Alexandria, such persons as have been vaccinated by the subscriber are invited to attend at his office, on St. Asaph-street, between Prince and Duke streets, to have their arms examined. Indigent persons are also invited to the same place for the purpose of being vaccinated. The subscriber will attend at his office every day in the week except Sunday, from 7 o'clock until 10 in the morning, for the purpose of receiving them.

He proposes also to be less particular than heretofore in the investigation of their claims to the benefit of the institution, as may respect their indigence and length of residence in town. The subscriber earnestly requests all such citizens as may be acquainted with persons liable to contagion, to send them without delay as above directed, where they will be served effectually and gratuitously.
